
These are fitted targets, not independent neutrino predictions. The threshold is a study fit screen, not a calibrated confidence interval.